Water Agency employee receives statewide award for innovative conservation programs

(Santa Rosa, CA) — Sonoma County Water Agency (SCWA) Water Conservation Coordinator Lynn Florey was presented with the California Urban Water Conservation Council's 2005 Excellence Award for Local/Community Innovations. The award was presented to Florey on December 7, 2005 in recognition of her creativity in designing water conservation programs for SCWA and setting new standards of excellence for wholesale water suppliers throughout the State

Florey is an active leader in the North Bay Conservation Community and the California Urban Water Conservation Council's Steering Committee. The California Urban Water Conservation Council was created to increase efficient water use statewide through partnerships among urban water agencies, public interest organizations, and private entities.

Florey manages several conservation programs for SCWA including Water Wise Gardening Tips, Ultra Low-Flow Toilet and Washing Machine Rebates, and many others. To learn more about these and other SCWA conservation programs visit <http://www.scwa.ca.gov/conservationprograms.html>.

Sonoma County Water Agency provides water supply, flood protection and sanitation services for the County of Sonoma. Visit us on the Web at www.sonomacountywater.org.
